- Students participating in a study abroad/away program for which you will earn transfer credit - Partnership, Direct Enrollment, UW System, and Study Abroad Provider programs—are required to obtain a Transfer Credit Agreement (TCA) prior to departure from UW-Whitewater. The TCA grants approval for study abroad credits to transfer back to UW-Whitewater.
- Students must attend a Course Approval Workshop to complete the above Transfer Credit Agreement Worksheet with the proper Advising Coordinator(s) to receive academic approval for courses abroad. Students must bring the course descriptions for their intended courses to this meeting.

The Advising Coordinators are:
Robert Mertens, College of Arts and Communication;
Robert Schramm, College of Business and Economics;
Kelli Danielski, College of Education and Professional Studies;
Elizabeth Hachten, College of Letters and Sciences; and Peter Hoff, Foreign Language and Literature.
- The Advising Coordinator(s) will complete the Recommended Transfer Equivalents with the student.
- Students should have more classes approved than they plan to take. This will provide flexibility in their course selection or if course availability is limited.
- After completing this worksheet, submit it to the Office of Global Experiences, who will provide a scan to the student via the student's study abroad portal.
- Failure to obtain a Transfer Credit Agreement prior to a student's departure could mean that academic credit will not be accepted and/or acknowledged by UW-Whitewater upon a student's return.
- Courses will not be transferred to Whitewater until the term is over and UW-Whitewater has received the official transcript from the host university or school of record.
